

Dear Admission Committee,

This is Zhikui CHEN, professor of the Dalian University of Technology. Wenbo ZHAO is my student in the course Discrete Mathematics, from Sep. 2018 to Jan. 2019. On basis of his exceptional performance during this period, I strongly recommend Wenbo ZHAO to all programs he will apply for!

Wenbo has shown his passion and potential since the first weeks of the course. Every lesson, he sat in the front of the classroom, listening to me carefully and taking notes in detail. For the difficulties he could not accept immediately, he discussed them with me very often and try to understand them in the shortest time.

Moreover, I would check the preview prep and review frequently by giving the students regular assignments. Wenbo's understanding of concepts and principles was getting solid after learning and reviewing since he figured out those assignments accurately. His serious attitude toward his tasks, I'm sure, is also quite beneficial to his success in his current area of interest.

His capacities and good characteristics academically were rare and valuable, impressing me so much. Not surprisingly, he got 91 points in the final exam for Discrete Mathematics, ranking the top in the class.

By chatting with him and talking with other teachers about him, I got to know him better. He's morally upright and cares about the good of others in research. Even if sometimes his tasks were challenging, he was always struggling to finish them on time by various means as promised. As a team leader, he could lend the members a hand eagerly when they needed help to achieve the mutual success of the whole team. These behaviors suggest that he is reliable, hard-working, and has high academic ethics.

In summary, Wenbo ZHAO is exceptional academically, and is competent for a master's program abroad. From the bottom of my heart, I recommend Wenbo ZHAO to your admission committee, and I wish this letter can be considered!

Best Regards,
Zhikui CHEN Ph.D.

Professor,
School of Software Technology
Dalian University of Technology
Tel: +86 134-7846-1921
Email: zkchen@dlut.edu.cn

No.321 Tuqiang Street, Economy & Technology Development Zone, Dalian 116024, P R China